

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Vaughn Thermal Corporation Announces New Sales Department Structure

Salisbury, MA November 1, 2014– Vaughn Thermal Corporation is excited to announce their new sales department structure, which will serve the North American plumbing and heating markets. Don Flynn, Vaughn's Business Development Coordinator, will now serve as National Sales Manager, overseeing all manufacturer representatives of Vaughn's longstanding, comprehensive line of Hydrastone cement lined water heaters, as well as several new products Vaughn plans to release during 2015. Kevin McAuley, with over 30 years of industry experience at Vaughn, will now direct all inside sales operations, in an effort to centralize resources moving forward for all Vaughn users.

About Vaughn

Headquartered in Massachusetts since 1961, Vaughn Thermal Corporation is the world leading manufacturer of cement lined water heaters. The company manufactures its electric, solar and indirect water heaters for residential applications, and also manufactures electronic energy controllers and electronic devices used by electric utilities for load controlling water heaters.
